Overseas Expert Column by Naohiro Goda

Candle Light Sho is a stakes race for two time winning 3YO and upper over 1,200m on turf.

My favourite is ISN'T SHE LOVELY, who finished second in allowance race for two time winners on 3rd December over the same course and distance as this race. In fact, the 4YO filly by DEEP IMPACT had been running the races beyond 1,500m since she made a racecourse debut in December 2020 and collected two wins from 13 starts. The allowance race for two-time winners on 3rd December was the first opportunity for ISN'T SHE LOVELY to run the race over 1,200m and I am impressed with the performance. She was settled at 15th position in 16 runners field and delivered the strongest challenge on homestretch, covering final 600m for 33.7 seconds, which was the quickest in 16 runners. BLOOMIN' BAR, dam of ISN'T SHE LOVELY, is winner of 7 races, all of which are 1,200m, and I am convinced she inherits quick speed from her dam. I believe she has a good chance to win Candle Light Sho.

One of the most consistent runners in the field is SAIYA DANCER, who has finished second at the class for two time winners for three times, including allowance race at Hanshin on 4th December. If the 5YO horse by BEHKABAD re-produces those form on Sunday, I believe he should have a good chance to finish within the first two. While SAIYA DANCER has not won at turf course of Nakayama, he won allowance race for one time winners over 1,200m on dirt at Nakayama and finished fourth in an allowance race for two time winners over the same course and distance as this race. From those forms, I judge he can run his race at 1,200m turf course of Nakayama.

Y'ALL and BANDERUOLA, who finished third and fourth in allowance race on 3rd December over the same course and distance as this race, in which ISN'T SHE LOVELY finished second, is my third and fourth choice for Candle Light Sho. The allowance race was the first start for both of them to compete against two time winners and first start since August. Therefore, I assess their performance in the allowance race should be regarded highly, and they have a good chance to hit the board on Sunday.

My fifth choice is SHARK SPOT, who finished third in allowance race for two time winners at Hanshin on 26th November. In fact, the 4YO colt by DANON SHARK had been running the races on dirt and the allowance race on 26th November was the first start on turf for him since March 2021. He clocked 1 minute and 8.4 seconds at 1,200m turf course at Hanshin, which is quicker than the standard time, and I judge he is able to act well on turf.

SELECTIONS: 2. ISN'T SHE LOVELY, 6. SAIYA DANCER, 10. Y'ALL, 12. BANDERUOLA & 15. SHARK SPOT
