Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

GARZA BLANCA has plenty in his favour going into the World Pool Handicap and should start favourite in this race. He normally settles worse than midfield but was taken further forward last start before unfortunately being caught wide. With peak fitness now gained and a nice roomy draw he'll be given every opportunity to run out the 1,400m.

RISE OF THE MASSES won the G3 Pago Pago Stakes as a 2YO before his form turned sour for quite a lengthy period of time. It was eighteen months between wins after he got the money recently at Warwick Farm and he's now looking better. Another strong effort was witnessed recently at the Rosehill barrier trials so I'd be surprised if he didn't run well.

GREBENI ventures to Randwick for the first time after winning three of his past four starts. Plenty went wrong for him in the G3 Winx Guineas in July but he managed to recover and finish third. The wider draw shall make this a challenge first up but his barrier trial leading in suggested he's forward.

HIGHLIGHTS is quite capable of running well in this event at a price. He has an excellent record at this course, plus can find the line with power dropping back in trip. On paper, it appears as though he'll be wanting further but the new stable has prepared him ideally for this specific race.

BODY BOB hasn't tasted defeat this current campaign notching up four consecutive wins in style. The inform Rachel King has been aboard his past couple and is now familiar with what he's all about. Together, they'll attack the big rise in class or distance with confidence and intent and I don't fancy they'll be faraway.

Winner of past three and is always excellent at this distance range. Deserves to be carrying plenty of weight but gets relief from claiming apprentice. With six wins from last eight starts, is a danger.

Entitled to go around at big odds. Went into the G1 Queensland Oaks (2200m) after being Listed placed. Failed to finish in the Oaks and this is her first run back. Two trials have been average and a bad barrier draw doesn't enhance her chances.

Former English galloper making his Australian debut. Has raced four times for two wins, a second and a third. The wins and a third have been at around 1400m. Has the record to warrant plenty of respect in this.

Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

ARCTIC GLAMOUR made a mess of the opposition in her maiden victory at Rosehill a couple of weeks ago and should be starting favourite. It was a win of raw talent after doing plenty wrong in the run and the rise to 1,400m shall be a big help. Youngsters are prone to making plenty of mistakes but she should be winning again on what's she's produced so far.

ADITI also won her maiden at Warwick Farm in good fashion before backing it up with another credible effort in her last start, the BM72 Handicap. She's a jump and run filly with reliable barrier manners and is likely to go fast early, then set up the lead. A nice bunch of young fillies shall be chasing her tail but she's a chance of going all the way.

QUEEN OF DRAGONS has more race experience than most going around and continues developing. She went the long way about it when coursing wide her last start but got the money with a touch of class. She'll do no work from the inside draw and the race distance is in her favour.

JOLIESTAR shall create plenty of interest with the powerful Chris Waller and James McDonald combining. She won her maiden well in June at Warwick Farm before returning to a narrow defeat first up. With a touch of luck she'd remain unbeaten, after unimpeded running cost her that win, so expect her to measure up.

KUNDALINI is the highest rated runner in this event and she hasn't even won a race. That highlights what she achieved in her first preparation as a 2YO and therefore must be entertained. She'll only be better for the first run back in seven months where ultimately the lack of fitness cost her the race.

TOM KITTEN got to far back in the Listed Dulcify Stakes over 1,600m and was unable to real in GANBARE and PUSHY in the run to the line. He was certainly getting home best of the trio and shall be highly advantaged by the increase in distance to 1,800m. He gives the impression he's a serious Derby horse in the making, and if that's the case then this is the next step he must take.

SNOWMAN absolutely trotted up with Joao Moreira in the saddle when he led all the way to score last start at Rosehill. Hugh Bowman now takes over the steering and you can be assured the pair shall attempting the repeat win on speed. He's already proven the 1,800m is no distance concern where as many of the others going around have knot.

GANBARE has a strong line of form behind him going into the day's feature 3YO and you can be assured he'll be ready. Trained by Gai Waterhouse & Adrian Bott, the 3YO son of well known Japanese sire MAURICE is progressive and tactically gifted with speed and strength. The profile of a race up in class, and in distance, is definitely the query and challenge to overcome, but he's never been better positioned to attempt it.

PUSHY won a BM68 Handicap over 1,600m at Newcastle by a widening margin before heading to Randwick for the Listed Dulcify Stakes. He took the step up to listed company in his stride with a courageous run in defeat. He'll need to raise the bar higher if he's to feature in the finish today and the wide draw makes that a difficult task.

TANNHAUSER is the horse to defeat according to the handicaps so he's worthy of some respect. He failed to find the frame first up in the G3 Ming Dynasty Quality after settling well back and near the fence. Nevertheless, his final 600m split's suggest he actually performed quite well so I'd be keeping him rather safe.

FAR TOO EASY hasn't been to the races since July where he went down fighting in the Listed Ramornie Stakes at Grafton after settling near last. He's well prepared for a first up crack at this extremely valuable race with two strong barrier trials a fortnight apart. With an awesome fresh record, and excellent overall rating, you'd be right to expect him somewhere in the finish. With luck he'll atone for a narrow but courageous defeat in this race last year.

DERRY GROVE is difficult to dismiss on recent wins despite the lack of depth in the races won. He's shown he can lead and dictate, settle back before kicking hard and most importantly do it whilst carrying weight. With an undefeated record at this track and lighter weight to carry he must be given plenty of respect. He'll need a lift to feature prominently in the finished but has been prepared accordingly to do so.

AKASAWA won a 1,600m races in May where he bolted in as the odds on favourite. He was spelled shortly after in preparation for the big races coming up and kicks off his new campaign here today. The 1,200m on paper certainly appears a fraction sharp, but he's won two trials leading in and boasts an outstanding record when fresh.

MOGO MAGIC arrives at his biggest challenge with a clean sheet of five wins from as many starts. In fact, he's only been defeated once if you include his seven barrier trials which informs you that he likes to win. He's and on speed make your own luck conveyance, who's won at Randwick in the past, but the 1,200m is the untried component which could create concern.

FRONT PAGE has changed stables but finds himself back at Randwick to defend his title. Last year's winner of THE KOSCIUSKO hasn't been able to win since that monumental day so the jury's out as to whether he can repeat. He did well in a barrier trial and should have him ready to race following a four month spell and we know he runs well fresh.

I AM ME announced herself as a potential top liner last preparation when she accumulated eight wins from fifteen starts. She returned to racing in August, following two effortless trial victories, to merely scorch across the grass for victory in the G2 Missile Stakes. That performance however has been overshadowed by a slightly disappointing finish in the G2 Sheraco Stakes last start. Another short break has since been followed by a faultless 800m barrier trial, which suggests she can bounce straight back.

BELLA NIPOTINA has been a solid contributor most of her career with twenty five top three finishes from forty starts. Her recent third placing in the G2 Premiere Stakes perfectly displayed her ability, when she fought out the finished with two horses running in the highly touted and feature The Everest. She's affective on any ground, well placed at weight for age and therefore should be right amongst it.

KING OF SPARTA was terrific down the Flemington straight first up in the G2 Bobbie Lewis Quality after being held up for clear running at a vital stage. With an outstanding record second up, he's a realistic option of taking home the major prize. With five of his six wins achieved at the distance of 1,200m he's extremely difficult to oppose, however, his record at Randwick could read better.

ZAPATEO comes out of G2 Premier Stakes behind THINK ABOUT IT which may end up being the outstanding form reference later in the day. The daughter of BRAZEN BEAU has the right credentials third up to take care of business here, and with ZAC PURTON aboard is guaranteed a good run. Ultimately, cushion in the track would've enhanced her hopes but she's too well placed to dismiss.

VILANA resumes in a hot contest after a brief freshen up but is made of the right kind of stuff. He's undefeated at Randwick from three outings and only beaten once following a spell or reasonable break.

Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

HAWAII FIVE OH lifted the bar to a new level back in June when finishing third in the G1 Stradbroke handicap at Eagle Farm in Brisbane over 1,400m. Since that outstanding performance owner has mapped out a program to contest The EVEREST over the shorter 1,200m. A brief spell was followed by two sharp barrier trials, which then lead to a first up closing sixth in the G2 The Shorts. However, it was the narrow defeat behind THINK ABOUT IT in the G2 Premiere Stakes that suggests he's at the peak of his powers, and a genuine winning option.

THINK ABOUT IT has only tasted defeat on one occasion from his eleven starts and that was in a BM72 handicap at Warwick Farm in August last year. He proved he was capable at G1 level in May and June by winning twice at Eagle Farm over 1,300m and 1,400m respectively. A brief spell was followed by a fighting win first up in the G2 Premiere Stakes where he fended off all challengers to win. He's tactically versatile, quite nicely drawn and has previously won at weight for age.

CYLINDER is one of two 3yo's competing in this year's The EVEREST and the pick of the pair from the good draw. His effort recently in the G1 Golden Rose was superb over the longer trip of 1,400m and he can thrive on the return to 1,200m. The form out of that particular event shall stand up well with the winner MILITARIZE a potential star. The weight pull against the older horses elevates his prospects and he rates as a realistic knockout chance.

I WISH I WIN won the Golden Eagle over 1,500m at Rosehill this time last year before enjoying a brief spell leading in to the Australian Autumn. A G1 win came in the T J Smith stakes over this exact track and trip in April where he defeated last year's The Everest winner GIGA KICK. A brilliant first up third at Caulfield over 1,400m in the G1 Memsie Stakes showed that he hasn't lost his touch, so if he's given the tempo required he'll power over the top at the end.

PRIVATE EYE won the G1 Epsom handicap in 2021 when better known as a genuine top class miler. His career has taken a different path over the last twelve months with sprinting now his forte, and at the forefront of his future race programming. After a narrow defeat in The Everest last year behind GIGA KICK he's been on a mission to go one better this time around. With a superb first up win in the G2 Shorts recently he's right on track and by all reports flying.

Will have plenty of admirers. Yet to win at G1 level but was an emerging 3 year-old last year and just went down to Giga Kick in the Danehill Stakes (1100m) and wasn't far away in G1s The Lightning Stakes (1000m) and the Newmarket (1200m). A narrow third behind Private Eye when resuming in The Shorts. Top prospect.

Has made good improvement since joining the Waterhouse/Bott stable in February. Now a dual G3 winner, the entire wasn't too far away in The Shorts and was beaten less than a length at his last start by Think About It in the G2 Premiere Stakes (1200m).??Worth serious consideration.

Three year-olds have a good record in this race with Yes Yes Yes (2019) and Giga Kick (2022) both winning. Already a G2 and G3 winner, and G1 placed from just nine starts, this colt creates plenty of interest. Comes into the race with excellent recent form.

PERICLES was runner up in the G1 Rosehill Guineas behind LINDERMANN in March which highlights his depth of class. He recently returned to racing with an excellent win first up before backing that up with a fantastic front running display in the G2 Tramway Stakes. The son of STREET BOSS has all the right credentials to get things done and in the process to give Godolphin a memorable day.

YELLOW BRICK is yet to miss a spot in the top three placings and adds another dimension to this intriguing race. The Tony & Maddysen Sears' trained galloper heads to Sydney for his maiden assignment and there's every chance he runs a big race. With a G3 win already under his belt, and form around subsequent G1 winner REDIENER, he's a fantastic option if the track remains dry.

BENEDETTA has always displayed well above average ability and she'll now receive her opportunity to show us just what she's got. With six wins and three thirds from nine career starts she's yet to do much wrong at home in Melbourne. With a solid piece of work recently undertaken at the Randwick trials, where she finished alongside of PRIVATE EYE, she's ready to go back to work.

RUTHLESS DAME shall be suited by the rise to 1,300m following a luckless performance first up in the G2 Shorts. She generally gives away a start before powering on strong with her customary brilliant turn of speed. As a G1 winner already she's nicely in at the handicaps and her second up record reads strong. Traffic congestion from the low draw is a concern and often brings her undone.

MADAME POMMERY was the winner of the G1 Thousand Guineas over 1,600m at Caulfield this time last year but her form since has become unpredictable. She returned this preparation with a fabulous fast finishing second behind PERICLES, at Rosehill over 1,400m, before a pair of below grade efforts since. She's a risky conveyance at the best of times but has the required motor to win.

Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

MR BRIGHTSIDE arrives back in Sydney with five consecutive wins alongside his name and a career high rating of 119. The multiple G1 winner has returned to racing this campaign as a fully furnished machine who appears near on unstoppable in whatever he contests. A little 1,000m barrier trial was undertaken on 2nd October to keep him ticking along and he handled it like a walk in the park. He's already proven himself in Sydney, and under the specifics of this event, so whoever defeats him wins.

ZAAKI was one of the Kings of Australian racing a few seasons back and the ageing four time G1 winner shouldn't be overlooked or left out. He was a little slow leaving the gates in the most recent starts at Randwick before finding the lead with a 200m to go. He was only run down the final strides and shall be peaking for this assignment. He's likely to find the lead, or be close, and therefore runs a big race.

THINK IT OVER won the G1 Queen Elizabeth Stakes in April on a heavy track before enjoying a welcomed winter spell. He requires a couple of runs to get himself up and about initially but was back to near his best in winning the 1,600m race last time. With nine wins at this track, he'll be in a comfort zone and unrivalled space. He's yet to meet MR BRIGHTSIDE in what promises to be a mouthwatering display, with the handicaps suggesting the visitor has to find a little if he's to have his way.

FANGIRL has really come of age over the last 12 months and must be considered in any race she contests. The 1,600m maybe slightly against her as the speed during the event can often drop off mid race, making it more difficult to close with overwhelming intent. However, with James McDonald behind the wheel she may well be closer in the run, remembering he's yet to taste defeat on her from three rides.

KOVALICA is still emerging as a genuine G1 competitor but is entitled to his opportunity to stand up and play. The G1 Queensland Derby is renowned for producing top line gallopers and he won this year's edition with a dominant high class display. Add to that his narrow defeat in the recent G1 Epsom Handicap, over this track and trip, and he's right on song to join in the finish. The only challenge remaining is to conquer rivals at weight for age.

European galloper that had one unplaced run in Australia in the approx. HK$50 million Golden Eagle at Rosehill last year before returning to England. Has been placed seven times and won once in Group races from 12 starts and is now permanently in the Ciaran Maher & David Eustace stable. It's his first race since finishing second in the G3 Superior Mile (1634m) at Haydock in early September. Big watch.

Anything trained by Ireland's Joseph O'Brien demands respect. Was second at G2 level at his last start at Leopardstown over 1600m. Has won three, all at around this trip, and had four minor places from 11 starts. Big watch.

Won at G3 level earlier this year over 2000m but has done little since. Tends to race over longer distances and his second last start was his first attempt at a mile. He wasn't disgraced but this looks too hard.

This year's G1 Queensland Derby (2400m) winner commands plenty of respect. Three of his six wins have been at 1600m. Was a narrow second at his most recent start in the G1 Epsom Handicap (1600m). Will be thereabouts and getting home strongly.

Expected to go around at big odds despite winning his past four, including his last start victory in the G1 Epsom Handicap (1600m). Winning form can't be denied and he'll loom up at some stage of the race and is not the roughest to snare a place.

MORE SECRETS put together some classy performances at the end of her last campaign, in particular her third place in the G1 Queen of the Turf Stakes. A similar performance over this same track and trip has her winning this race today and the draw helps to seal the deal. Her run first up in the G2 Golden Pendant was exactly what connections required so she's entitled to run favourite.

AUSBRED FLIRT arrives following an excellent first up win at Randwick and is worthy of strong consideration. She's drawn a long way out so a big effort is required, along with a touch of luck, but she's racing particular well. Craig Williams takes the ride and she'll be working home hard so be weary of leaving her out of calculations.

SOUL CHOICE is emerging as a real talent and lightly raced mare that has plenty more races to win. She was superb first up when racing on speed and kicked away final stages to win. She'll be better for the run and has drawn ideally in gate one so she's perfectly placed to tackle the tougher race.

FRUMOS returned to race following a brief winter spell with an eye catching effort in a quality BM94 handicap. Joao Moreira took that ride with the feedback obviously glowing because James McDonald has now takes the seat. Her second up record is exceptional and I'd expect a decent run, although she's yet to record a result on good or firm track.

MIRRA VIEW has a solid base of race fitness underneath her belt which many of the opposing opposition don't. Her most recent third placing in the 1,400m G3 Tibbie Stakes at Newcastle was honest and rated a career best performance. She'll need to perform at that level again, or better, if she's to feature and the low barrier draw create the opportunity.

Two of her three wins have been at around 1600m, including one a Listed level in April. Is now in a new stable and the past two runs at 1300m and 1400m have been average. Is okay on her day and 1600m is a bonus.

Track Analysis by Brett Davis

Randwick Racecourse

Randwick Racecourse is the home of racing in Sydney, with races being run there since 1833. Located around six kilometres from the city's CBD in the leafy eastern suburbs, it hosts major racedays in Sydney like Doncaster Mile Day and Queen Elizabeth Stakes Day in the autumn, while The Everest is the biggest race run on its famous turf during the spring.

Randwick has a track circumference of 2227m, a width of 28m and a home straight that is 410m long and has a gentle rise. Renowned for its expanses, Randwick is a fair, right-handed racecourse where every horse in theory should get its chance, however, as can often be the case in Australian racing, track patterns and bias on a particular raceday can emerge, which is worth paying attention to.

The feature event, The Everest, will start from the 1200m chute in the top right corner of Randwick. The field will run for over 200m on the chute before linking up with the course proper. There is only one turn for the runners to face before they enter the home straight. The 1200m starting point will also be in use for the G3 Sydney Stakes and The Kosciuszko.

In six renewals of The Everest, barriers 4, 1, 9, 6, 10 and 5 have been successful in a race that has a limit of 12 runners. The rail has been in the true position on Everest Day for the last six years.

Last year's running of The Everest was run at a frantic tempo, setting it up for the fast-finishing GIGA KICK to score just ahead of the incredibly consistent PRIVATE EYE, while MAZU closed off well after covering ground to finish third, ahead of NATURE STRIP, who fared the best of the on pacers.

There are two Group races over 1600m on the Everest Day, the G1 the King Charles III Stakes and the G3 Angst Stakes. The race begins at the famous Randwick mile starting point in the top of the back straight, which has long been regarded as one of the fairest starting points in Australian racing. From this point, the field has a run of 600m before they turn to the side of the track, giving runners plenty of time to find their positions and lessening the significance of the barrier draw.

The World Pool Handicap and the Listed Reginald Allen Quality are both run over 1400m and begins from a chute. The field in this race will have a relatively short run of close to 250m before linking up with the course proper and history suggests that wide draws are at a disadvantage from this start. Likewise, the Silver Eagle will start from the same chute but over 1300m, therefore there's less of a run to the first turn and barriers are even more important.

The G3 Gloaming Stakes over 1800m also begins from a tricky point on the Alison Road side of the course, as the field has a short run of only 150m before they turn into the back of the track. Consequently, barrier draws and being able to secure the right position early will play a vital role in determining the winner of the race.

Dry weather is forecast in Sydney for the lead up to The Everest and on the big day itself, so the track should play fairly.

Inside Everest draw gives Moody plenty to think about

Thursday, 12/10/2023

Champion trainer Peter Moody is disappointed and perhaps a little daunted that his sprinter I Wish I Win has drawn barrier one for the AU$20 million (approx. HK$100 million) The Everest (1200m) at Royal Randwick in Sydney, Australia on Saturday (14 October).

Moody, who now trains in partnership with Katherine Coleman, was desperate for his outstanding galloper to draw an outside barrier in the 12-horse field, which features eight individual Group 1 winners.

While conceding it's not a disaster to draw the absolute inside barrier in the 1200m race billed as the world's richest race on turf – a contest which carries a first prize of AU$7 million (approx. HK$35 million) – the Melbourne trainer said barrier one certainly wasn't ideal.

"I was looking for mid-field or (an) outside draw," Moody said. "I don't think it's a disaster but it would have made our case a bit easier in mid-field or outside."

Moody conquered the world stage with his champion mare Black Caviar who added the G1 Diamond Jubilee Stakes (1200m) at Royal Ascot in 2012 as part of her unbeaten career of 25 wins crowned by 15 Group 1 victories.

Moody comments about not wanting an inside barrier draw resulted in I Wish I Win, which has been out of the money only twice in 17 starts, being replaced as favourite by some Australian betting agencies with the Joseph Pride-trained sprinter Think About It, who has won his past eight races for a record of 10 wins and a third from 11 starts.

Think About It has drawn perfectly in barrier five and should be able to settle close to the speed, while I Wish I Win will need luck to weave a clear passage up the straight.

Pride, who will also saddle his five-time Group winner Private Eye, which is behind only his stablemate and I Wish I Win in the local betting market, knows that his horses could earn in about 70 seconds what it took all last year to make.

"It's crazy. That's where The Everest just throws your brain process out a bit," Pride said. "Last year, my horses earned (AU) $7 million (approx. HK$35 million), and there was a lot of good luck and a lot of bad luck, but it balanced out over the year.

"There's no balancing out in a race which is over in a minute – it's either good luck or bad luck. Luck can be the difference between winning and losing – (AU) $10 (million) and nothing."

And while Moody has rued his sprinter's inside barrier, trainer Bjorn Baker was delighted when Overpass, the only noted front-runner in the field, drew gate two.

"We will utilise that cruising speed, we will be up there and rolling along," Baker said.

"We're happy to roll along, that's how I see our best chance. In some ways, I think it's better if a horse does go with him and we get a bit of speed into the race.

"He's got a high cruising speed, that's how we've won our races and how he's run his best races, he's been out there doing the work so we're comfortable in that position."

Baker says Overpass is a better sprinter this spring than the one that contested The Everest last year, finishing a competitive sixth behind Giga Kick.

With three-year-old's Yes Yes Yes and Giga Kick winning the race, there is plenty of interest in lightly-weighted youngsters Cylinder and Shinzo.
