Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

BOLD BASTILLE by BRAZEN BEAU who had plenty of support early in betting when the markets opened for this event. She's been forward in both her jump outs over the 800m and found the line comfortably in second position at her most recent in a time of 46.13. Race pressure shall sort these youngsters out, at the end of the day, but it's predicated she'll be right in the finish.

IMMORTAL STAR draws wide but shall at least be given plenty of initial room to hopefully find a good rhythm. She's unbeaten in two jump outs at Flemington and in the latest heat defeated fellow candidate BOLD BASTILLE. She's a free running type with plenty of size and scope, who's destined to race on speed, and may take catching.

CHOSEN LEGEND has the advantage of an official barrier trial to lean on with Zac Purton now picking up the ride. Jamie Kah was aboard in the 800m trial win at Cranbourne where she got a satisfactory taste for the racing game. Drawn low, she's expected to push up and hold a position early before attacking the line with power.

BLUE ALLURE is another 2YO filly from the powerful Hayes stable that is owned and raced by only women. The daughter of BLUE POINT has Damien Oliver to ride and is drawn favourably nearer the inside running rail. Her two jump outs at Flemington have also viewed well, and she was able to win the most recent of them in a time of 48.64.

BLUE STRATUM is trained by the astute Tony & Calvin McEvoy yard, and they rarely make mistakes when it comes to placing young horses appropriately. This colt won his second, of two jump outs, at Terang in slick time and with plenty in hand. He was initially an emergency for this race but with a start he must be considered a genuine winning prospect.

WISHLOR LASS makes her Moonee Valley debut after back-to-back wins at her previous two starts. Her overall record reads five wins from seven starts so she must be highly respected considering her achievements and enviable tally to this point. She's tactically versatile with a good turn of foot although her best results to date have been when racing on speed.

THALASSOPHILE generally prefers cut in the track to produce her best but that wasn't the case in the G3 Angst Stakes when second up from a spell. She has the benefit of race experience at Moonee Valley over many of her opponents. She continues building nicely towards another race win and it's difficult to underestimate this stable.

SOUL CHOICE is emerging as a real talent and lightly raced filly that has plenty of upside and races to win. She was superb first up when racing on speed and kicked away solidly through final stages to score. She'll be better for the run in the G3 Angst Stakes at Randwick where gate one ended up a disadvantage. She's nicely poised to tackle a fairly tough race and a definite win place chance.

EN FRANCAIS is a big bodied mare from the stable of Jake Stephens who previously took ALCOPOP to Hong Kong for the G1 Hong Kong Cup in 2012. She gained experience at Moonee Valley last campaign in the G2 Sunline Stakes but finished down the track. She's an improved racehorse this time around and must be strongly considered.

OSMOSE finished twelfth first up at Randwick in the G3 Angst Stakes after initially settling back at the rear. The run was actually better than it reads on paper so I'm happy enough to give her some leeway on that performance. She'll be much better for the outing and the stable is running hot so she's a capable runner to consider.

INHIBITIONS has plenty of race experience for a young 3YO filly and importantly applied her trade well around this particular track. With three of her past performances over this course and trip she'll feel right at home, where other perhaps won't. In her recent fifth placing at Caulfield she was crunched out the gates however prior her form was excellent in quality events.

CIGAR FLICK lines up for this race following an encouraging fourth place in the G2 Danehill Stakes. That particular race at Flemington is likely to end up a strong form reference going forward so she therefore rates highly. She's owned by the famous Ingham family who also race FANGIRL in the feature event the G1 Cox Plate on the same day. The wide draw appears awkward but she's expected to be in the finish.

FLOOZIE has displayed talent from day one and broke her maiden status recently over 1,200m at Morningson. Champion jockey Damien Oliver now takes the reins and with retirement looming, for the Australian legend, he'll be out to make every ride count. The way she drew clear over the final 200m suggests she's fully aware of what racing is all about, so it shall be onwards and upwards from here.

GUMDROPS started favourite at Ballarat recently when she jumped straight to the front before leading all the way. Damian Lane was aboard the daughter of WRITTEN TYCOON for her maiden win and maintains his position in the saddle. She didn't defeat an overly strong field on that occasion, so a sizeable challenge lays ahead, but she's in a reputable stable and drawn to do no work.

PARADISE CITY arrives unbeaten after two outings in provincial class where she raced handy before kicking away to win. The outside draw won't make things easy for her initially, as she searches for position, but Beau Mertens knows her well which is going to assist. This stable has an uncanny knack of winning the big races so I'd pay her some respect on what she's achieved.

ANTINO was touted by trainer Tony Gollan as a proper G1 horse at the commencement of this campaign, and he was almost proven correct in the G1 Toorak Handicap. After drawing a wide gate, he was forced to do plenty of work during the run before looming up to win at the 100m marker. A nail biting finish went the way of the opposition in the end, but he lost no admirers in defeat. He debuts at Moonee Valley which shouldn't be of concern and is desperately hard to tip against.

TUVALU tops the ratings list for this intriguing weight for age contest and if previous finishing orders are anything to go by then it's his race to lose. Last year's G1 Toorak Handicap winner didn't fire in the Autumn but has since returned to his old self this campaign. A gut busting chase behind ALLIGATOR BLOOD in the G1 Underwood Stakes was admirable and he'll take a pop of beating here at Moonee Valley.

PROWESS emerged as a genuine super star last campaign with a memorable victory in the G1 Vinery Stud Stakes at Rosehill. This highly exciting New Zealand mare returns to Australia following a narrow first up defeat over an insufficient 1,400m. It's her first look at the Moonee Valley circuit, but she's a high-class machine who shouldn't be taken on lightly.

BANKERS CHOICE hasn't won a race for quite a long time so he's a difficult horse to recommend for the win. However, he was definitely in need of a long and lengthy winter spell which he no doubt enjoyed before returning to racing in September. His effort second up in the G1 Toorak Handicap, where he got a long way back, was utterly enormous so he's obviously feeling quite well within himself.

APRILIA has her hoof firmly on the till following three runs back from a spell and on ratings is the horse to beat. Nevertheless, the scope of this classic G2 event for the young ladies is overwhelming full of volatility and depth. The former Kiwi is already placed at G1 level in her initial racing life, and I'd expect her to race handy to the speed. With that being the case, she'll create herself a legitimate winning chance.

BROADCASTER arrives in Melbourne winless following an initial four career start and Sydney campaign. She hasn't been beaten far in any contest and was exceptionally courageous in the Listed Reginald Allen Quality when caught out wide all of the way. If she copes with the travel and reverse way of running, she's in the finish for sure.

SKYBIRD heads to the city stage following two dominant wins on the Victorian provincial circuit. The filly by EXOSPHERE possesses a lethal and explosive turn of foot which has caught the eye of many good judges leading into this race. The early markets are suggesting she might be some sort of a star so be weary in leaving her out.

CARINA QUEEN has drawn nicely for her debut at G2 level and rates a viable option in an even event. Michael Dee steered her home for an encouraging win at Sandown last outing and she's bred to handle the distance rise. A lift is required if she's to make the grade but it's hard to oppose her to this point.

NODACHI has struggled to find the line well enough her past couple to suggest she can trouble the favourites but remains open to further improvement. She's giving the impression that 1,600m, and perhaps beyond, is what's she's craving and she'll arrive ready to peak. A spot in the first five is her likely travelling position and she'll run you an honest race.

APULIA arrives with a solid foundation of racing and residual fitness under the saddle to give this event a shake. He found the line superbly in the reliant lead up, the G3 Caulfield Classic, and has previous race day experience at this track. With the famous Hayes touch doing the final preparations I'd expect him to raise the bar and be a solid winning chance.

AIR ASSAULT makes the trip to Melbourne from South Australia with a pair wins to his name. The son of American Sire JUSTIFY has displayed a high level of ability when finding the lead in rhythm before dashing right away. It's a decent hike in class, and the challenges associated with travel await, but he's progressing fabulously and should run a mighty race.

VERDAD was brilliant in the G2 Stutt Stakes here at Moonee Valley behind subsequent G1 Caulfield Guineas winner GRIFF and reads as the likely favourite. The wide barrier caused him plenty of pain in the aforementioned G1 Caulfield Guineas but he remained honest in his endeavour and approach. A good draw here is vital to his prospects and the rise in journey appears ideal.

KONING takes a huge leap in class to contest this quality G2 event but with Zac Purton behind the wheel you'll be receiving a decent ride. The win at Newcastle was a low calibre affair, but won with class in hand, and he appreciated the races longer trip. The stable is in form and there'll be no drama running the 2,040m so included him in all the exotics.

IMPERATRIZ is the highest rated runner by quite a margin and for that reason stands between victory and defeat for all other competitors. With six G1 wins from ten attempts, plus, an unbeaten record at Moonee Valley from three runs she's the unrivalled super star of this field. This overpowering 5YO mare has tasted defeat only once in 2023, and that's unlikely to change on what we've witnessed from her during this campaign.

I AM ME announced herself as a potential top liner last preparation when she accumulated seven wins from ten starts. She returned to racing in August, following two effortless trial victories, to merely scorch across the grass for victory in the G2 Missile Stakes. That performance has since been franked by a fantastic on speed win in the G3 Sydney Stakes. She'll likely be suited by the tightness of this track and rates a serious contender.

UNCOMMON JAMES is a highly progressive sprinter who's only missed a top three finish on one occasion. He returned this preparation with a hard chasing third behind IMPERATRIZ in the 1,000m G1 Moir Stakes at Moonee Valley. Another terrific effort in the 1,100m G2 Schillaci Stakes last start has topped him off superbly for this assignment and a forward position in the run almost assures him of a top three finish.

THE INFERNO was a Lion City Cup winner in Singapore before relocating to Australia where he's struggled to win races on a regular basis. That being said, he does enjoy a strong affiliation with the Moonee Valley circuit and thrives in events run over 1,200m. The good track conditions anticipated and likely frantic first half are elements of a race he desires, so don't be surprised if he finds himself in the frame.

Overseas Expert Column by Brett Davis

ROMANTIC WARRIOR is ready to contest his second and primary Australian target following a solid preparation both at home and abroad. Most of the groundwork was completed in Hong Kong but following his arrival, and hearty fourth place in the G1 Turnbull Stakes, his condition has gone ahead in leaps and bounds. James McDonald reported he was desperately in need of the first up run but thrilled by the progress made following his final gallop on Tuesday morning. Trainer Danny Shum is feeling no pressure and reported he is also happy with his champion's improvement, quoting him at approximately 90-95% fit. The new surroundings, race surface and anticlockwise direction are all specifics ticked off during the past weeks, so with barrier 7 producing numerous winners of this event, it's off to work he goes.

ALLIGATOR BLOOD has been at his scintillating best this campaign with back-to-back wins in the G1 Underwood Stakes and the G1 Might And Power respectively. He finished fifth in this race last year after leading the field to the home bend before exhaustion took its toll down to the wire. The high-pressure nature of this classic event, particularly from the 800m to the winning post, goes against his desired and preferred pattern of dictatorship, however, he's clearly at the peak of his game. The barrier draw allows him to lead or alternatively take a sit behind those carving across and from there he'll give the race a decent shake.

ZAAKI was one of the Kings of Australian racing a few seasons back and the ageing four time G1 winner shouldn't be overlooked or completely left out. He was a little slow leaving the gates in the recent 7 Stakes at Randwick before finding the lead with 200m to run. He was only cut down in the final strides of that event and shall be peaking in fitness following a strong piece of work at Moonee Valley Tuesday morning. He's jumping out of his skin by all reports and the wide draw mightn't be as awkward as reads on paper.

GOLD TRIP finished ninth in the G1 Cox Plate last year, on a heavy track, before going on to win Australia's greatest 3,200m event the G1 Melbourne Cup. He returned this campaign with a strong effort first up at Moonee Valley, carrying 137lbs, before an electrifying and jaw dropping last to first win in the G1 Turnbull Stakes at Flemington. The return back to 2,040m following another fantastic effort in the G1 Caulfield Cup last weekend can obviously create some doubt, but he's bordering on "Champion Status" the way he's going, and the blinkers are back on. The change of track conditions this year and return back to weight for age can swing things around.

FANGIRL has really come of age over the last 12 months and must be considered in any race she contests. The 2,040m of the G1 Cox Plate maybe slightly against her, being a distance untried, but her incredible class and finishing power suggest it's a contest worthy of an attempt. She's also yet to race at Moonee Valley, which is an additional hurdle to jump, however with Zac Purton aboard she'll be given every possible chance to grind into the finish.

MAHARBA should appreciate the predicted high speed from the outset here and run over the top in the end. The 3YO son of PRIDE OF DUBAI displayed exceptional talent earlier in the year when finishing second behind SHINZO, who shortly after went on to win the G1 Golden Slipper. A last start win at the track and trip for jockey Michael Dee reads ideal and he should be difficult to deny.

BARBER is another get back runner that'll appreciate the high race speed. The Godolphin runner has been out of form in his two runs back this term, but the blinkers are now being applied. He's worked in that head gear quite nicely leading up and if he brings that focus to race day he can win.

ARCHO NACHO defeated the exciting I AM UNSTOPPABLE at Flemington two starts back couldn't frank the form. However, he raced keenly at his following attempt and is therefore worthy of another opportunity to impress. The Moonee Valley track is a circuit that's predicted to suit his gate and style and I'd therefore want him in the tips.

SCHWARZ scored in two trials before he went to Gosford and won when dictating the race in front. That 1,200m win gives him added fitness over a number of the opposition here and from the inside gate he's ideally drawn. James McDonald now takes over the reins from Tommy Berry and he's expected to be in this for a long way.

Track Analysis by Brett Davis

Moonee Valley Racecourse

Moonee Valley is one of the four major racecourses in Melbourne, yet the only metropolitan venue that accommodates night meetings under lights. Renowned as a small, tight track that goes around 1800m once round, Moonee Valley features in particular one of the most abbreviated stretch runs amongst all top-tier racetracks in the world – only 173m in length. Just like Hong Kong's Happy Valley, drawing the right barrier is of vital importance. Besides, track specialists can come to the fore and as a rule, it is an advantage to settle close to the pace.

The G1 Cox Plate is run over 2040m distance at Moonee Valley. Breaking from the top of the straight, the field has a run of 300m before hitting the first turn, and reach the Dean Street side of the course. They then travel along that part of the track for just over 400m before turning onto the backside by the 1200m marker, where the field should have all been sorted out in positioning. Coming off the backside 800m out, the field will soon fly by the famous school at the 600m marker, where the pace precisely picks up. Many a rider will ask his mount, and those who cannot keep up will start to fade. Turning for home – be it the thrill of victory, or the agony of defeat – the stretch drive is just 170m from here on in to the finish.

In last year's Cox Plate, ANAMOE laid close to the pace in the early goings, made his move at the 400m marker, then held off all challenges to score. I'M THUNDERSTRUCK, breaking from an outside post position, drop to the rear, and rallied late to check in second, while imported galloper EL BODEGON, storming home from way back down the field, was also much too late, and could only grab third.

The 2040m start will also be in play for the G2 Moonee Valley Vase, an exclusive key prep for aspiring three-year-olds en route to the following Saturday's Victoria Derby at Flemington.

For the Listed William Crockett Stakes, the G1 Manikato Stakes and the G3 Red Anchor Stakes over 1200m, the barrier is positioned in the top-right corner of the track. Runners have about 400m to sort themselves out before hitting the first turn at the 800m mark. Except for a fast horse that possesses incandescent gate speed to whip across from an outside post position, and snatch the rail right from the go, inside to middle barriers are much preferred.

Meanwhile, three 1600m contests in the raceday, including the G3 Tesio Stakes, the G2 Crystal Mile and the G2 Fillies Classic, do feature a 400m stretch run on the Dean Street side of the course before reaching the first turn. Therefore, riders are forced to make their moves early, or risk being parked wide, whereas outside post positions are certainly no omens at all.

The remaining sprint on Cox Plate Day, a 1000m Inglis Banner, breaks from a chute near the 1200m mark, and the field has about 350m to jockey for a good spot before re-joining the course proper. Recent trend shows a clear advantage for inside post positions.

With mostly dry conditions leading up to the weekend, and Moonee Valley's great drainage system, this year's Cox Plate Day would likely enjoy good track conditions.

Brent Thomson praises Romantic Warrior ahead of W.S. Cox Plate tilt

Thursday, 26/10/2023

Revered for prodigious G1 W.S. Cox Plate (2040m) exploits, former champion jockey Brent Thomson believes Hong Kong's Romantic Warrior is the "logical favourite" to win the AU$5 million (approx. HK$24.813 million) showpiece at Moonee Valley on Saturday (28 October).

Thomson, who rode 129 winners in Hong Kong during a decorated international career, is one of only three jockeys to partner four W.S. Cox Plate winners – Hugh Bowman and Glen Boss are the others – while Darby Munro holds the race record with five victories.

Asked which of the 12 runners engaged in Saturday's contest he would like to partner if given the choice, New Zealander Thomson pointed to compelling form lines stemming from Romantic Warrior's fourth in the G1 Turnbull Stakes (2000m) on 7 October.

"The Turnbull Stakes form is always rock solid and the Caulfield Cup bears witness to that," Thomson said. "He (Romantic Warrior) is the one that's got a pretty special pilot (James McDonald) on board and Danny Shum has him pretty good nick.

"He's the logical favourite. It (the W. S. Cox Plate) is a race which doesn't spring many surprises, so I'm with him (Romantic Warrior)."

Romantic Warrior finished fourth in the Turnbull Stakes behind Gold Trip, West Wind Blows and Soulcombe, who all contended strongly in the G1 Caulfield Cup (2400m) last Saturday (21 October) with West Wind Blows finishing second, Gold Trip third and Soulcombe seventh behind Without A Fight.

Thomson's association with the W. S. Cox Plate started with victory aboard Fury's Order in 1975 – when he was only 17. Thomson advanced to three more wins, triumphing aboard Family Of Man in 1977, So Called in 1978 and Dulcify in 1979.

Damien Oliver will ride in the W.S. Cox Plate for the final time, while continuing his association with the Cummings family - one of Australian racing's most illustrious clans famed by the deeds of Bart Cummings, his son Anthony Cummings and more recently his grandson James Cummings, who prepared last season's W. S. Cox Plate winner Anamoe.

Due to retire in December, 51-year-old Oliver will combine with Edward Cummings – another of grandson of Bart and brother to James – aboard Duais.

The first of Oliver's two W.S. Cox Plate triumphs came aboard Dane Ripper for Bart Cummings in 1997 and the champion hoop is hopeful of prevailing one final time.

For Edward Cummings, several rivals horses stand out – but few more than Romantic Warrior.

"Danny's horse looked impeccable at yesterday's gallop – I saw it on social media – he looked very sharp, very powerful," Cummings said.

Six-time Hong Kong jockey Zac Purton will partner Fangirl for leading trainer Chris Waller.

The G1 W.S. Cox Plate (2040m) will be run on Saturday (28 October) at 2.10pm (HKT).

Waterhouse wants to add to family history with Cox Plate win

Thursday, 26/10/2023

Gai Waterhouse, widely recognised as the First Lady of Australian racing, believes her champion galloper Alligator Blood will finally reward her with the big race that has eluded her – Saturday's (28 October) G1 Cox Plate (2040m) at Moonee Valley.

Regarded as one of the greatest weight-for-age races on the global stage, Waterhouse's legendary father, the late T.J. Smith, won the race a record seven times.

Waterhouse, who now trains in partnership with Adrian Bott, is confident the on-pace Alligator Blood will pick up his third consecutive Group 1 to add to the seven he has already collected.

There are plenty of challenges for the title in the star-studded 12-horse field headed by Hong Kong visitor Romantic Warrior, who goes into the race much better after his Australian debut when he finished fourth, beaten by nearly four lengths, in the G1 Turnbull Stakes (2000m) at Flemington on 7 October.

Waterhouse knows the opposition is elite, but she remains confident the AU$5 million (approx. HK$24.8 million) Cox Plate, which carries a first prize of AU$3 million (approx. HK$14.9 million), will add significantly to Alligator Blood's cult following.

"He's absolutely come of age, he's so big – when you see him, his rump is like a dining room table," she said at trackwork this week.

"He's got terrific lung capacity as well; he's just a wonderful horse.

"I'd love to win a Cox Plate. I've always adored this race, because it marries the things we do so well in Australia; speed, it's got this electricity, this vitality... it's just a fabulous race."

While Romantic Warrior drew barrier seven, Waterhouse wasn't fussed with barrier five for her horse.

Irish trainer Aidan O'Brien has the other international runner in the field with Victoria Road who won four races in succession last year, including a Group 3 over 1800m in France and then the G1 Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf (1600m) in America. He has raced only once at 2000m, finishing a distant second last of eight runners in August.

Co-trainers Ciaran Maher and David Eustace are aiming Gold Trip on the same triple path to glory as they did last year when the gelding finished second in the G1 Caulfield Cup (2400m), ninth in the Cox Plate and first in the G1 Melbourne Cup (3200m). Gold Trip finished third in last week's Caulfield Cup. Maher said everything would have to go Gold Trip's way on Saturday and he'll need one uninterrupted run.

"But it wouldn't be beyond him," he said.

Maher and Eustace, who will race Gold Trip in blinkers on Saturday, also saddle-up King Colorado, who joins Chris Waller's highly-fancied Militarize – already a three-time Group 1 winner – as the only three-year-olds in the race. They will both carry the minimum assigned weight of 109lbs.

The race will hold special significance for Hong Kong with several runners among the entries for the LONGINES Hong Kong International Races at Sha Tin on 10 December.

What race Mr Brightside will target in Hong Kong will become clearer after Saturday's race with the gelding, which is trained by David Hayes' sons Ben, Will and JD, yet to win beyond 1630m.

"One of his question marks, a lot of people were saying, is will he run 2000m? I think barrier two gives him every opportunity to do that, he should have a nice soft run," Ben Hayes said.

Other Cox Plate horses in the entries for the Hong Kong meeting in December include Duais, Gold Trip, My Oberon and Zaaki.

Waller predicts his star mare Fangirl to be "very hard to beat" if she can run out the 2040m. A three-time Group 1 winner, the mare hasn't raced beyond 1600m since her three-year-old season when she won the G1 Vinery Stud Stakes over 1850m.

Militarize is already a Group 1 winner over 1600m and Waller believes the 2040m won't bother the colt.

Romantic Warrior ready to peak in W.S. Cox Plate

Friday, 27/10/2023

James McDonald is optimistic Romantic Warrior can become the first Hong Kong-trained horse in 18 years to triumph in Australia when Danny Shum's flagbearer contests the AU$5 million (approx. HK$24.813 million) G1 W.S. Cox Plate (2040m) at Moonee Valley on Saturday (28 October).

The last Hong Kong galloper to win in Australia was David Oughton-trained Cape Of Good Hope, for Brett Prebble, in the 2005 G1 Australia Stakes (1200m) but McDonald hopes Romantic Warrior can add his name to the W.S. Cox Plate honour roll tomorrow.

McDonald, whose wins aboard Romantic Warrior include the 2022 G1 LONGINES Hong Kong Cup (2000m) and the 2023 G1 FWD QEII Cup (2000m), believes the gelding is ready to peak after a last-start fourth behind Gold Trip in the G1 Turnbull Stakes (2000m) at Flemington on 7 October.

Asked how Romantic Warrior could turn the tables on G1 Melbourne Cup winner Gold Trip – one of seven W.S. Cox Plate contenders holding entries for the 2023 LONGINES Hong Kong International Races on 10 December – McDonald said: "Just fitness. He's come on nicely with nice improvement, so we're hopeful. There'll be no excuse if he's beaten. If he's beaten, he'll be beaten fair and square. I think he's on song – I really do.

"All I can compare him to is the Flemington workout (on 2 October), where he blew up basically in the piece off work and he came off the track like he'd had a decent bit of work. Now he's doing the same bit of work and marching off the track. We're definitely progressing. He's definitely going much better than he was going into the Turnbull (Stakes)."

Bidding for a second win in Australasia's weight-for-age championship after victory aboard James Cummings-trained Anamoe last year, McDonald said he was satisfied with Romantic Warrior's barrier draw of seven.

"We wanted gates five, six or seven and I haven't really digested it too much yet but I see Alligator Blood is in (barrier five) and as long as we get a (good) spot in running, that will be the main thing," McDonald said.

With a record 16 wins, barrier seven is the most successful barrier in W.S. Cox Plate history.

To face 11 rivals at Moonee Valley tomorrow, Romantic Warrior's opposition includes LONGINES Hong Kong Cup (2000m) nominees Mr Brightside, Zaaki, Gold Trip, Duais and Victoria Road, while My Oberon is entered for the G1 LONGINES Hong Kong Mile (1600m).

With Romantic Charm's fourth at Geelong on Wednesday (25 October), Hong Kong runners have compiled a record of one win and 12 placings from 49 starts in Australia.

The G1 W.S. Cox Plate (2040m) is scheduled to be run on Saturday (28 October) at 2.10pm (HKT).
