Overseas Expert Column by Bill Esdaile

A multi-national field of talented 3YOs lines up for the eagerly anticipated G2 UAE Derby over 1,900m.

PANDAGATE has shown some talent in his three starts to date, winning his 2YO debut by a very impressive nine lengths and, more recently, the 1,600m race by over five and a half lengths at Aqueduct in February. Coming from Christophe Clement's US stable, which has made a very strong start to 2024, PANDAGATE should have a very good chance, despite this being his first try at this level. He must overcome a wide draw of 10, though.

The formidable Japanese handler Yoshito Yahagi sends FOREVER YOUNG, unbeaten in four starts to date, into the mix. This colt took the step up into Group company in his stride when winning the G3 Saudi Derby over 1,600m at King Abdulaziz by a head. He may have to improve on that performance to win this, and does also have a wide draw to overcome, but he still looks a key player here.

GEORGE TESORO steps up to Group level for the first time, having been very narrowly denied his last race in Chukyo at Japan over 1,400m. An improving sort, the step up in distance to 1,900m should suit him well and he has a more favourable draw than some of his rivals.

Drawn beside GEORGE TESORO, Aidan O'Brien's HENRY ADAMS is very interesting having had a promising 2YO season, winning twice and running well in G1 races over 1,400m. Bred for this distance, he is likely to improve on his dirt debut, and O'Brien's runners must always be respected at this meeting.

GUNS AND GLORY will come out from stall nine, might not be exposed at this level yet, and he won his last race over 1,900m by an extraordinary 12 lengths. If showing that ability again here, he can be competitive and has the experience of jockey Jamie Spencer to aid his chances.
