Overseas Expert Column by Catrin Nack

Grosser Preis Von Bayern looks a cracking race, with 11 horses declared. The race, run over the classic Derby trip of 2,400m on what looks likely to be autumn ground, shall put emphasis on stamina, something the German breeding industry is well known for. There is no clear favourite at time of writing, making this year's running an even more interesting betting proposition. The male Classic Generation is represented by a runner from the English and the German Derby's, and both these colts may well be the place to start.

ANCIENT WISDOM brings high class form to the table, having won a G1 as a juvenile and finishing second in England's principal Derby trial on his seasonal reappearance. Things didn't work out in the Epsom Derby itself behind a certain CITY OF TROY, and while he bounced back to form in a British G3 over slightly further in July, he hasn't been seen on a racecourse since. It remains to be seen if he is fully wound up for this, but he has a strong chance nonetheless.

STRAIGHT is a fascinating contender. While his overall form will not blow you away, he has been a revelation since changing stables, and is very firmly on the up. He was able to show only glimpses of his talent earlier in his career, and if he can continue his stunning upward curve, he can go very close indeed. He has a new pair of hands on the reins, but Murzabayev is a local champion and a tip-top rider.

QUANTANAMERA is one of two older fillies. Always held in high regard, she sometimes is her own worst enemy and needs to settle better than on her latest outing at Ascot. If she runs to her best, she can go close.

Last but by no means least are two the elder foreign raiders, MARQUISAT and TIFFANY. The former, Godolphin-owned, is trained in France by Andre Fabre, a tip in itself. Without winning this season, the lightly-raced 4YO showed excellent form in defeat and could well come out on top here; he heads the betting at time of writing.

To give him most to think about could well be TIFFANY, trained in Newmarket by Sir Mark Prescott. Prescott knows a thing or two about German racing and training fillies, he has long made it a habit to plunder our best prizes with vastly improving fillies and mares; don't forget what ALPINISTA did in her "German season" before she went on to win a Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe. While TIFFANY may not be up to that, she is improving at the rate of knots and culminated her excellent season with a 3rd in the fillies and mares G1 race at Ascots Champion's Day. She may well put the icing on the cake here.

SELECTIONS: 4. MARQUISAT, 5. STRAIGHT, 7. TIFFANY, 8. ANCIENT WISDOM & 6. QUANTANAMERA

Pace: GOOD

ATOSO and ANCIENT WISDOM like to go forward and they can share the lead in the early stages. PANTHERA, TIFFANY and MARQUISAT can sit behind the leaders and not be far away. QUANTANAMERA and WAR CHIMES should be at the rear.

Better than ever this season, winning three races including Baden-Baden G2. Latest third in Ascot G1 company (albeit against her own sex) makes her one of the form picks here. Winning possibilities.

A G1 winner at two and second in England's principal Derby trial. Though disappointing in the Derby itself, he bounced back to take a Newmarket G3 in July, his last run. Likely to go well if not too rusty after the break.

A close third in the German Derby at Hamburg. But that race has not worked out yet and he also needs to leave recent modest run well behind to figure here.
