Overseas Expert Column by Diego Mitagstein

Undoubtedly the best older distance horse in Argentina, EL KODIGO is the name to beat in the Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini. Although he performs better on dirt than on turf, he has just won the G1 Gran Premio Copa De Oro, a preparatory race for the Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini. He has experience, quality and versatility, as he can adapt to all kinds of paces. In 2024, he has already won two G1 turf races. As the winner of the first leg of the Argentinian Triple Crown in 2023, EL KODIGO is a strong candidate for this race, but starting from gate 20 is unfavorable for him.

While DON FERES is one of the foreign horses in the Pellegrini 2024, he is also one of the main candidates. Foaled in Peru, Foaled in Peru, where he leads the adult horse division over turf between 1,800m and 2,400m, he has experience on the main track at the San Isidro Racecourse. Like EL KODIGO, he is a very classy horse who adapts to different rhythms. Although DON FERES tends to show some indocility once he gets to the front, the advantage is that he will be ridden by Carlos Trujillo, a leading jockey in South America and his usual rider, who knows him well and will surely prevent DON FERES from making unexpected movements. His record is impressive, with 9 wins in 13 appearances, and he comes off a victory in the G2 Clasico Presidente De La Republica in his first run over 2,400m, the same distance as the Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini.

Outstanding among the best 3YO of the season over the turf track at San Isidro Racecourse, ACENTO FINAL will try to take advantage of his youth, the weight difference provided by the weight-for-age scale (between 6 and 6.5 kilos), and his excellent form, as he has just won the G1 Gran Premio Jockey Club over 2,000m of turf, the second leg of the Argentinian Triple Crown, which was run on the same track where he will compete now. In a large race and with the aforementioned weight advantage, he will likely start gaining positions on the turn to reach the home straight in an ideal position to move forward freely. He skipped the G1 Gran Premio Nacional at Palermo's dirt track, and was specifically prepared for this race, which is another point in his favor.

Second to ACENTO FINAL in the G1 Gran Premio Jockey Club, HONEST BOY is another top 3YO in the developmental stage. In that race, ACENTO FINAL pushed HONEST BOY to the outside of the track, preventing him from advancing freely, and the result could have been different if both horses had run straight. With only four races under his belt, he is still in full growth, and his pedigree is clearly ideal for running the mile and a half of the Pellegrini. His owner and trainer have won two of the last three editions of the Pellegrini, which is also an interesting point to consider.

Perhaps GREZZO does not have the strongest race record, but his victory in the G3 Clasico De La Provincia Buenos Aires, where he ran over 2,400m for the first time, demonstrated that he not only made a significant leap in quality but also found the ideal distance for his best performance. In that race, he won very comfortably and posted a better time for the distance than EL KODIGO, who won the Gran Premio Copa de Oro later. Earlier, he had finished fourth in the Gran Premio Jockey Club, behind ACENTO FINAL and HONEST BOY, at 2,000m, but he has improved since that race.

SELECTIONS: 20. EL KODIGO, 12. DON FERES, 4. ACENTO FINAL, 13. HONEST BOY & 1. GREZZO

 S1-1 | Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini | Turf | 2400M
 Likely Positions After Settling

Pace: GOOD

EL PROVOCADOR and MOZO DE BAR have speed and they should take up the running. EL KODIGO who has drawn the outside gate may be trapped wide in the early stages. ACENTO FINAL and HONEST BOY are likely to settle midfield. LONGBOARD BLUE and PEPE JOY should be at the rear.

After fourth to Acento Final in the 2000m G1 Gran Premio Jockey Club, he scored comfortably in a G3 last time on his first run over this 2400m and the distance clearly suits him. His winning time interestingly was quicker than that posted by El Kodigo in a G1 over course and distance last month.

Horse No. 2

Peru's last success in the Pellegrini came back in 1993. Don Feres will have plenty of support to emulate that after a fine second in a G1 at the track last year. Has top South American jockey Carlos Trujillo on board. Lines up after nine wins out of 13. Won when tackling this 2400m trip for first time in G2 company last time out.

Horse No. 6

This progressive colt has one and a half lengths to make up on Acento Final after chasing the latter home in the 2000m G1 Gran Premio Jockey Club. Considering the way that race was run there is probably less of a difference between the pair than the official winning margin. Bags of potential with only four runs under his belt.

Track Analysis by Diego Mitagstein

San Isidro Racecourse, property of the Jockey Club Argentino, was inaugurated on December 8, 1935. It is, without a doubt, one of the largest and most important racecourses in the Americas, and is located 22 kilometers north of the Buenos Aires city, occupying an area of 148 hectares.

Its turf track is 2783m long by 45m wide, and allows for 1000 meters events without elbows. A diagonal offers the option of running without any curve up to 1400 meters and the extension of the opposite straight makes it possible to run races over 2400 meters with a single elbow.

The sand track has an extension of 2590m with the main elbow, while with an internal elbow its length is reduced to 2200m. The width of the track is 31m, allowing the participation of up to 24 horses per race, a number that varies depending on the distance of the competition.

The San Isidro Racecourse is also one of the most modern equestrian venues in South America. In the month of December, the Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini takes place, the most important event around Argentina's calendar.

The grass track of the San Isidro Racecourse has the particularity of being very friendly for any horse, because of its layout and because of the lightness of its surface, presenting a single difficulty in the final stretch, where the competitors meet at the moment of greater effort with a steep slope. Although it is not at the level of Tattenham Corner, in Epsom, it does require saving energy to use in that section.

There is no one way of running that is favourable over the others. Yes, it is a rule that for a horse that uses very fast splits in front, it will be difficult to achieve the objective of winning.

Usually, on the Pellegrini date, the weather is usually warm and the track is fast, but, on occasion, strong thunderstorms can build up on the horizon and blow in with little warning, making the circumstances more complicated. Another aspect to take into account is the large number of horses that usually participate in the Carlos Pellegrini, forcing the participants to look for a smooth development, in order to be able to improve in the final straight with freedom, something that is not usually easy to achieve.

Star attraction El Kodigo has tricky draw to overcome in South America's greatest race

Friday, 13/12/2024

El Kodigo lines up for Sunday's (15 December, Hong Kong time) G1 Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini (2400m) with all the right credentials to claim South America's equivalent of the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe.

The Group 1 showpiece on the turf of Hipodromo de San Isidro, on the outskirts of Buenos Aires in Argentina, is debuting as a World Pool contest.

El Kodigo, partnered by his regular rider Gustavo Calvente, has established a wide fanbase this season, picking up Group 1 wins in the Republica Argentina (2000m), General San Martin (2400m) and Copa De Oro (2400m).

The flying four-year-old faces 19 rivals, including contenders from Brazil, Uruguay and Peru.

Whilst boasting the best form, connections' jaws dropped at Tuesday's (10 December) barrier draw when El Kodigo ended up in stall 20, right beside Avenida Dardo Rocha, the road which runs alongside the track.

To counterbalance this misfortune, he has a long straight ahead of him to get in a decent position before the bend.

But the tricky card he was dealt in the draw lottery undoubtedly makes his task harder, opening up possibilities for others in the field.

Like Crazy Talent, the only horse who has succeeded in beating him this year, has the added plus of one of South America's top jockeys in Juan Carlos Noriega on board.

Noriega, seeking a fourth win in the Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini, is so hyped about this year's race he was in attendance on Tuesday for the all important barrier draw as Crazy Talent was assigned stall nine.

"We were quite lucky. We wanted nine, eight, seven or one, and we were lucky that we got our first choice," he recounted to Argentinean racing publication turfdiario.

The man from Cordoba has high hopes of bringing up his fourth win in a race first run in 1887 and once attended by the late American President Teddy Roosevelt.

He says a change of tactics, in racing Crazy Talent nearer the pace, paid off spectacularly when the four-year-old got the better of El Kodigo over the 2400m distance on turf in the G2 Clasico Comparacion in August.

Noriega added: "You work all year for this and you are waiting to see which horse you get to ride. My friends were asking me five months ago what I'm going to ride! This time it will be with Crazy Talent, who is very talented, always runs well, and, fortunately, arrives in spectacular form in training.

"He always runs well, I have a lot of respect for El Kodigo and others but this year our horse lines up in top shape."

In a top notch renewal Acento Final is the star of the Classic generation, having landed the G1 Gran Premio Jockey Club (2000m).

He is being taken on by the four horses who finished behind him that day, headed by runner-up Honest Boy, who has one and a half lengths to find.

The fourth home, Grezzo, went on to comfortably claim a Group 3 over 2400m in a quicker time than El Kodigo produced when landing the Copa De Oro on the same card.

Jazz Seiver returns after last year's fourth in the Gran Premio Carlos Pellegrini.

Peru's last success in the race came back in 1993 and their challenger, Don Feres, holds claims with top jockey Carlos Trujillo on board, and has form at this track based on his eye catching second in the G1 Gran Premio Latinoamericano (2000m) in 2023.

One of three Uruguayan hopes, Master Of Puppets, is on a four-timer since switching stables to the talented trainer Facundo Santesteban, who is having his second shot in the race after his 2021 challenger came in fourth.

Four-time Hong Kong Champion Jockey Joao Moreira partners Brazilian challenger Cold Heart.
