Expert Analysis by Patrick Payne

Here we have a wide open race. The pace should be strong enough to afford chances on all sides.

Demerit is fairly confident choice, nonetheless. He hasn't been able to beat super mare Hot Danish (running at the Harrolds Tristarc Stakes), but if he can repeat his fourth to the same star in Sydney just a few weeks ago, the race should be his. The key is that he is on the upgrade while other Group One winners such as Sniper's Bullet and All Silent no longer have the same blue-sky potential.

All Silent, mind you, a disappointment in the Cathay Pacific Hong Kong Sprint last year when he had the excuse of the widest gate, has a serious turn of foot - but his wide draw could make things problematic. Thing should be easier this time around.

McClintock, meanwhile, is the type to go forward and hang tough for the finish. He should test the selection most because he also has an aptitude for rain-affected tracks, races well at Caulfield and is fit.

Dao Dao is a class act – a head third in the Champions Mile of 2009 says enough - and well known for his wins in Hong Kong and latterly but performs well in Melbourne and likes the soft ground so must be considered.

Rothera has excellent Queensland form, appreciates wet tracks and gets into the race well on the weights.

Gr 1 winner who is struggling to find that level of form. However this is only second run for new stable and will appreciate stepping up to 1400m. OK good to slow ground.

Expert Analysis by Patrick Payne

A race with a fine tradition and is better known to most as the Coongy Handicap, its former name. This is always a complex puzzle to solve and it's no different this season.

Purple, though, is the one I like. Peter Snowden's team is in good form, his draw is okay for a horse we can expect to tuck in midfield and the main thing is that he is improving. True, he has yet to win this term but the improving performance of 4th, 3rd, 3rd to 2nd suggest a win is not too far away. Last start out the selection was held by C'est La Guerre - in the winners' circle for the first time since winning the New Zealand Derby in 2008. But the selection Purple met with some trouble in running that day and is chosen to turn the tables on C'est La Guerre who probably in need of a stiffer test of stamina.

A horse to emerge from the JRA Cup last time with flying colours was Rainbow Styling and he also commands plenty of respect. He has never been in better form.

If it turns into a really dour, stamina-testing battle in the stretch, Ginga Dude from New Zealand is a courageous type and his form across the Tasmania puts him in good stead for this contest.

On the other hand, Playwright is in the best form of his career and makes his own luck by leading or racing to the fore. This could be his best chance yet at a major purse.

Expert Analysis by Patrick Payne

One of the jewels of Australian racing's crown, the Caulfield Cup is now an international event, although a maiden victory in the race for Hong Kong and Mr Medici looks tempered by a heavy weight of 55 kilos on his first run after a break.

Representatives from Great Britain and Japan are also in the mix, but the forward runners will be hard to get past here so I am tempted to go for Metal Bender from an inside gate. He had outstanding 3yo form in Sydney. His most recent runs in the Group One Turnbull and Underwood Stakes were really very promising and I feel he can slot into a box-seat position from gate 2, travel and kick in the straight. He will stay the trip, no problem, and he has the class.

Herculian Prince is another likely market leader by virtue of his no-nonsense front-running style. He proved his current fitness and wellbeing with a dominant win in the Group One Metropolitan Handicap last start – for which he received a 2 kilo penalty – but he is on steep upward curve and deserves his rank near the head of the market.

Master trainer Bart Cummings is chasing an eighth win in this great race and it is interesting that he is applying blinkers for the first time to Faint Perfume, winner of the Crown Oaks almost a year ago. Though her overall form has not been as stellar this preparation, her last start hinted at signs of a revival and the gear change could do the trick.

Shocking, last year's Melbourne Cup winner, is another who looks up against it at the weights but his draw is fine. His main agenda is obviously the Cup at Flemington again but don't think trainer Mark Kavanagh will be happy to let a prize such as this slide past without giving it a real good shake.

Alcopop who ran a terrific second to Cox Plate hero So You Think, the best horse in the country at the moment in the Yalumba Stakes. Alcopop drops down 5.5 kilos for this test but has drawn wide and no doubt connections have an eye on the Melbourne Cup as the prime objective.

Top Hong Kong stayer who has not raced since May 30 when he won the Chater Cup at this distance. Capable all conditions with a liking for soft ground and can race handy to the speed which is often a plus in this race. Has not won on a left handed track. Efforts in Hong Kong International races suggest he can be competitive in this Group 1 handicap.

Finely built English stayer now with Melbourne trainer Tony Noonan. Showed a glimpse of best European form last start when 6.7 lengths 7th in the Turnbull Stakes. Better suited in this distance range and can race handy to the speed. OK good to slow ground.

New Zealand trained stayer who finished 10th in this race last year. Back in form last start when carried 129lbs to win over 2500m at Flemington on 3 October. Can race on speed and capable all conditions. Ran well in last year's Melbourne Cup (fifth) and that might be more his race but not without some chance here.

Expert Analysis by Patrick Payne

Typhoon Tracy, Australia's current Horse of the Year, won this race in a breeze 12 months ago from Hot Danish, a mare eyeing her status as the nation's best female thoroughbred if she can uphold her current form.

Hot Danish keeps getting better with experience and this year looks primed to go one better on the back of four consecutive wins – two each at Group One and Group Two level - and that's a standard few, if any, in this field can aspire to. She is the standout pick at these race conditions as long as she can overcome a wide gate. The expected tacky going won't be a concern.

No Evidence Needed also states a strong case for inclusion. Runner-up in the South Australian Oaks last term, she has improved in her current preparation with a Group Two win and two second-placings at the highest level and in a Group Two. She looks like a solid quinella option.

Marquardt could be a surprise packet to some of the bigger names provided the pace is true. A sequence of injuries have restricted her career to just 11 starts but she swamped her rivals at her last start in a Listed Race in Sydney and seems to be peaking at the right time.

If the going turns worse than dead Live In Sin on her home track is the one to pop into multiple bets. She is a leader and if there is any track bias, she has to be considered.

Expert Analysis by Patrick Payne

Miss Octopussy was a very impressive winner last start at Moonee Valley in a fast time and a repeat of that effort would make her really tough to beat.

Elsewhere, trainer Mick Price's runners can never be discounted in these races and it would not surprise if his new recruit Little Gem ran figure in the finish at a value price.

Sunday Rose has the right credentials, too, but her win last start at Moonee Valley was in a race where she had things to suit her. This is trickier but she cannot be ignored.

It might pay to take a look at Varenna Miss who recently turned in an outstanding win at Ballarat. She is a very powerful mare who seems sure to win a good race and I reckon she will prove hard to beat. But she needs to get a run.

Mr Medici steps out at Caulfield

Hong Kong's own Mr Medici will, this Saturday, contest the A$2.5 million Caulfield Cup (Group 1 - 2400 metres) which is the highlight event of the simulcast races from Australia.

The Caulfield Cup is a handicap race and Mr Medici has 121lbs – 5lbs below the topweight Shocking who won last year's Melbourne Cup.

The race is run on a left handed course which may be foreign to Mr Medici but the fact that he can take up a forward position early is an advantage, with a relatively short run to the first turn, and the rain which is forecast later in the week in Melbourne would also improve his prospects.

The Peter Ho-trained stayer won the Standard Chartered Champions and Chater Cup on a significantly rain affected track at Sha Tin on 30 May before his Caulfield Cup mission was planned. At the Cup distance of 2400 metres, the champion stayer has run four times for two wins at HK Group 1 and HK Group 3 level.

Local fans will be hoping he can emulate the Melbourne autumn win of Cape Of Good Hope in the 2005 Australia Stakes, and go one better than Super Kid, who during the Caulfield carnival of the same year, ran second in the Dubai Racing Club Cup (1400m) and second in the Toorak Handicap (1600m) - both at Gr 1 level.

Mr Medici has done well in the quarantine stables at Werribee and travelling foreman Saul McHugh says the horse is heading into the Saturday's race in good order.

"We're right at our boxing weight. He's tight and he's happy and he's eating," McHugh said, "The horse has really thrived since he's been here. We're looking forward to taking the wraps off him on Saturday."

Mr Medici was rated at 20/1 for the Cup before the barrier draw which will affect the odds. Metal Bender, Dariana, Shocking, Alcopop and Herculian Prince are the most favoured of the local horses.

Shocking and Metal Bender ran 2nd and 4th respectively last start in the Turnbull Stakes at Flemington. Eight of the past 20 Caulfield Cup winners have come through the Turnbull. Last year the Caulfield Cup was trifecta'd by Viewed, Roman Emperor and Vigor who ran 7th, 9th and 13th respectively in the Turnbull Stakes.

The Gai Waterhouse trained Herculian Prince was promoted in the markets after his excellent last start win in The Metropolitan at Randwick. It's worth looking at the recent record of Metropolitan winners. Railings and Tawqeet completed the double in 2005 and 2006. The Metropolitan wasn't run due to EI in 2007 and the past two winners Newport and Speed Gifted came out of the Caulfield Cup at the 11th hour.

Alcopop will have many fans for the race after his second, last Saturday, behind So You Think in the Yaluma Stakes at Caulfield. So You Think is rated the best horse in Australia and Alcopop will relish the extra 400 metres of this Saturday's race.

Caulfield Cup considered wide open

Hong Kong's champion stayer Mr Medici draws barrier 16 but continuing rainfall should improve his chance.

There was both worrying news and hopeful news for fans of Hong Kong champion stayer Mr Medici today as he prepared for his bid to become the first Hong Kong trained horse to win the prestigious G1 BMW Caulfield Cup (2400m).

The worrying news was that he has drawn barrier 16, which may make it harder for him to take up an optimum position near the lead and the rail. The better news is that rain is falling steadily on the track and, remembering how well the horse coped with a wet track in the HKG1 Standard Chartered Champions and Chater Cup this must be a great encouragement to trainer Peter Ho.

"The horse is well. As good as he can be" said Ho today after the barrier draw. "My job is done, and it's all up to the jockey now. We've planned this from the day he won the Champions and Chater because this is the ideal race for him. The timing is right, with few opportunities for him at home at the moment, and we're very happy with the weather."

Ho added that Mr Medici worked this morning with Japanese contender Tokai Trick and "galloped very strongly".

Alcopop and Herculian Prince, who secured the final two places in the field of 18 for the 2010 BMW Caulfield Cup to be run on Saturday, are equal favorites at A$6.50 for the race with the Chris Waller-trained Metal Bender.

The pair were equal in the order of entry for the A$2.5m feature with imported galloper Mourayan and New Zealand veteran Red Ruler. The Melbourne Racing Club rightly included the two in-form horses while Mourayan and Red Ruler are now the first and second reserves.

Alcopop, a last start second to So You Think in the Group 1 Yalumba Stakes (2000m) at Caulfield, and the Gai Waterhouse-trained Herculian Prince, a last start winner of the Group 1 Metropolitan Handicap (2400m) at Randwick, were considered the best credentialed by the MRC Committee.

UK visitor Drunken Sailor has been declared third reserve with Valdemoro the fourth reserve. Drunken Sailor's Luca Cumani-trained stablemate Manighar does secure a run and the stable is quietly confident he can run well at his Australian debut.

"I was very happy with his latest gallop. We did exactly the plan we hatched. It worked perfectly and we're getting some rain which will help him," Sara Cumani said.

Cups King Bart Cummings won the race for the sixth time last year with the ill-fated Viewed and he has the two lightest weighted horses, four-year-old mares Faint Perfume and Dariana, in this year's 133rd edition.

"Faint Perfume is going well and this is the first time she'll race in blinkers," he said. "There's a real sense of timing about her preparation for Saturday."

Cummings also believes that Dariana can improve on her poor showing in the Turnbull Stakes but any further rain would diminish her prospects as she is best on good ground.

Former kiwi trainer Mike Moroney is hoping several gear changes can switch on Monaco Consul who also disappointed in the Turnbull Stakes. "The Turnbull wasn't the most suitable race for him, so I thought it was worth trying some gear changes. I've taken the one-eyed blinker off and gone back to the pacifiers and crossover noseband for this week," he said.

Sydney trainer John O'Shea has two runners Zabrasive and Jessicabeel. They are stabled at Flemington but were taken to Caulfield for yesterday's work.

"They both went as good as they can go," he said. "It was all about having some experience Caulfield and they handled it well. Craig (Newitt) jumped off Zabrasive and said if he was going into any other 2400m race, he'd declare him, so he was very happy." O'Shea said.

The Jake Stephens trained Alcopop may gather enough public support to start favorite on Saturday. His trainer is certainly confident.

"I'm not thinking in terms of the race being in the bag, I'm just thinking from a racing perspective, gee, he looks a good thing coming into this," Stephens said. "I'm thinking that with the right luck, he should win the race."

A trio of international visitors feature in the Cup field. They are Japanese iron horse Tokai Trick, Hong Kong star Mr Medici -who is currently rated at A$15 chance - and the Cumani-trained Manighar.

Shocking hard to beat in Caulfield Cup

The Mark Kavanagh-trained Shocking turned in one of the highlight performances of the spring carnival in Melbourne, last year, when he won the Melbourne Cup and he now looks set to add another major trophy to his record.

The five-year-old has topweight of 126 lbs for this Saturday's Caulfield Cup but that may not be enough to stop him emulating last year's winner Viewed who won this race with 126 lbs the year after his Melbourne Cup win.

Trainer Kavanagh is certainly confident - as confident as you can be going into a major handicap - and that confidence wasn't dented by the barrier draw.

Shocking drew barrier 12 – which will become nine if the emergencies don't gain a start – and that draw pleased the Flemington-based horseman.

"I wanted between (barrier) six and 10 and if you take out the emergencies that puts him in nine," the Flemington trainer said of his star charge, who will be ridden by Michael Rodd.

"He certainly has trained on (since the Turnbull) and he's in excellent condition. I'm confident he'll be around the mark and I've left some improvement in the jar for the Melbourne Cup."

Hong Kong trainer Peter Ho is also looking to Saturday's race with some enthusiasm with Mr Medici. "He's a Group 1 horse in Hong Kong and the horses he beat in Hong Kong are very good horses. He's a typical stayer. He can relax and save himself for the finish. I'm happy with his form. He's very good," he said.

The well fancied Alcopop drew the outside barrier but his racing style is to get back in any case.

"It will depend on the track. They might be winning out there come Saturday," Alcopop's trainer Jake Stephens said after the gelding came up with barrier 22.

Stephens drew positives from the rain, although he didn't want it any worse than a slow seven. "I hope they are going pretty hard up front and getting out wide on the day," he said.

Bart Cummings will start his multiple group 1-winning VRC Oaks victor Faint Perfume in the Caulfield Cup, along with Queensland Derby winner Dariana. The pair drew seven and eight respectively.

"They're stabled next to each other at home, so they'll be happy with that," said Reg Fleming, the Flemington foreman for Cummings. "We wanted between gates five and 10 when we got here so we'll take that," he said.

Caulfield Racecourse – Track Analysis:

Caulfield - better known as "The Heath", and in some ways resembling Moonee Valley - is a challenging track famous for its tight corners and short stretch runs. This left-handed course has three straight sections; and as a result, at any distance, front-runners or those close to the main speed often have an advantage. Those starting from outside post positions can also find ideal trips by gunning from out wide and snatching the rail or staying at most two deep early on. Although in a typical Caulfield Cup, often with a big field contesting the classic mile-and-a-half (2400m) distance, horses scramble for the first turn shortly after the break, and on passing the post for the first time positioning is absolutely paramount as late closers saving ground early may find themselves struggling late, and with the home straight measuring less than a quarter mile (367m) from the last turn to the finish, most riders tend to make their moves at least a half mile (800m) from the finish. All in all, the winner of this prestigious event is usually a quality stayer who can stay relatively close to the pace and then find something extra in the final furlong.

For the five or six furlong (1000m-1200m) sprints at Caulfield, stall bias is less well defined, as the field re-joins the main track from a chute, thereby producing a straight of over a quarter of a mile (400m). This usually gives ample space and time for horses on the outside to find an attacking position before reaching the only corner. But, with the still relatively short straight again having an effect, deep closers seldom find it easy to win sprints at Caulfield.

Expert Analysis by Wendyll Woods

The new champion from Champion Stakes will soon be crowned at Newmarket. The fifteen strong field will be bidding to follow in the footsteps of equine greats like Kalanisi (2000) and champion three-year-old New Approach (2008). French winners have been commonplace in recent years, taking two of the last four runnings. 2010 is likely to see the French to the fore once again.

Heading the French challenge is Eric Libaud's Vision D'etat, a multiple Group One winner. The French globe-trotting star has won at the highest level in France on two occasions, the Prix Du Jockey Club and the Prix Ganay, two of the biggest races in France. The five-year-old showed his class and versatility when beating a classy field in the Prince of Wales's Stakes at Royal Ascot last year, quickening well to hold off Sir Michael Stoute's Tartan Bearer. Last December he proved himself one of the world's elite ten furlong (2,000m) horses when taking Hong Kong's Cathay Pacific Cup under his usual rider, Olivier Peslier. 2010 has been a quiet year thus far for the French star, who has only seen a race track on two occasions. However, his latest win at the Prix Gontaut-Biron shows him to be a major threat to all. Furthermore, with that being his second run of the campaign he'll be fresher than most. Ground conditions won't be a problem for Libaud's tough and consistent charge and the likely strong pace should see him finish late and fast under his exceptional jockey.

France could well claim a one-two on Saturday with the late-maturing Fuisse chasing home his compatriot. C Head-Maarek's Fuisse has always shown plenty of ability but has his fair share of quirks too. His maiden Group One win in a hot contest shows him to be at the top of his game at present. His neat turn of foot may be a potent weapon over the ten furlong trip. Although this is a distance he has never won over, his second in last year's Group One Prix Du Jockey Club over ten furlongs (2,100m) offers plenty of hope that the trip will suit. The capable Stephane Pasquier takes the reins.

Last year's winner, Twice Over, is back to reclaim his title but will be a much shorter price this time around. Henry Cecil's star has proved a model of consistency at Group One level ever since but critics still say he is below top class. That may be true, but his determination is second to none and vital course and distance form should see him at least sneak a place. His latest effort in the Irish Champion Stakes was a poor effort by his standards, but his jockey, Tom Queally, has full faith.

The most intriguing horse in this year's line up must be Await The Dawn. Aidan O'Brien's well bred three-year-old has only seen the race track four times, but an impressive nine length win in a Group Three at Leopardstown makes him a dangerous horse on the up.

A great race is in store but Vision D'etat makes most appeal given his consistency and freshness. His third run of the year should see him firing back to his best. Fellow French raider, Fuisse, should improve further with the trip while last year's winner, Twice Over, will always have a chance. Ballydoyle's Await The Dawn is on the up so don't be surprised by an upset.

It looked like a career best when he ran fourth in Group 1 company at Ascot in 2009. However he has had training problems and has only raced twice since then, disappointing each time. It would be a massive shock if he won.

Despite twice unseating his jockey at the start, he still managed to gain his first Group 1 race last time out when winning Longchamp's Prix du Moulin over 1600m in September. He mostly races over shorter distances than this but did prove his stamina when runner-up in the 2009 French Derby over 2100m.

He won a Grade 1 over 1800m on the Santa Anita sand and also did well to finish a close sixth in the Dubai World Cup after a horror passage. Returned to win a Group 3 on the polytrack at Dundalk early this month should be even sharper for this major target. The stiff uphill finish at Newmarket should suit this long-striding galloper.

Beat a subsequent Canadian Grade 1 winner when landing a Group 3 over this distance at Sandown back in April. Has not raced since finishing sixth in a Group 1 at Royal Ascot back in June, not happy on the very fast ground that day. Faces a very difficult task here.

Has won at Group 2 and Group 3 level and almost pulled off a 33-1 shock when only beaten half a length by Saturday's rival Twice Over in the G1 Coral-Eclipse over this distance at Sandown in July. Was a good second in a Grade 2 event in Turkey last time and is versatile groundwise, but will be an outsider in this prestigious Group 1.

Gained his first Group 1 victory in this race last year, having finished second in it the previous year. He then put up a terrific performance to finish third in the Breeders' Cup Classic at Santa Anita and this year has added the Coral-Eclipse at Sandown to his Group 1 tally but ran a little flat at Leopardstown last time. Good ground or faster would suit best.

Has won 10 of his 15 starts, three of them at European Group 1 level and also, of course, his Grade 1 victory in the Cathay Pacific Hong Kong Cup at Sha Tin last December. He disappointed badly in the Dubai World Cup but even in training he had looked very unhappy on that sand surface. He bounced back with a good victory at Deauville last time and will be racing over his perfect distance on this penultimate career start before trying for the double at Sha Tin.

Has won three of his four starts and became a certain contender for a Group 1 when accelerating 9 lengths clear of his nearest rival in a Group 3 over 2000m at Leopardstown last month. His last two runs have suggested sharp improvement, winning first at Goodwood and most significantly when mowing down Group 1 specialist Rip Van Winkle to win the G1 Queen Elizabeth II Stakes over 1600m at Ascot in September. He seems best on a soft surface, but he will now need to prove that he has the stamina for 2000m.

Is yet to win in Group 1 company and will face plenty of Group 1 winners here. He did finish runner-up in a Grade 1 at Arlington Park, Chicago, two starts back. Highly consistent and this is his ideal distance, but he is likely to be vulnerable to the late speed of one or two of these top class rivals.

Vision D'etat supporters hoping to see him win at Newmarket on Saturday before Sha Tin climax in December

Vision D'Etat has been targeted at Saturday's Emirates Airlines Champion Stakes at Newmarket before attempting to end his racing career in a blaze at Sha Tin, defending his Cathay Pacific Hong Kong Cup crown in December.

The Champion Stakes is the British leg of Hong Kong's simulcast broadcast on Saturday, and Vision D'Etat's supporters will be hoping to see this brilliant five-year-old repeat the feat of Pride, another French-trained horse, in 2006. That year Pride won the Champion Stakes, a top European Group 1 over 2000m, and went on to end her career with a memorable short-head defeat of Admire Moon in a thriller at Sha Tin.

Eric Libaud, Vision D'Etat's trainer, considered the Prix de L'Arc de Triomphe as a 2010 objective following the horse's successful return in the Prix Gontaut-Biron -Hong Kong Jockey Club at Deauville in August. However the trainer says: "The reality is that this horse has always been better over 2000m than 2400m and it makes much more sense to end his career over his ideal distance, first at Newmarket and then at Sha Tin."

However to win the 11th race on his 16th career start Vision D'Etat will need to be right at the top of his game with a collection of world class rivals joining a queue to take him on at Newmarket.

For example he will need to defeat Twice Over, runner-up in the Champion Stakes two years ago and winner of it last year. This colt occasionally runs an appalling race but mostly he is very good and looked superb when winning the Group 1 Coral-Eclipse at Sandown Park in July. Last time out was one of his disappointments when only third in the Irish Champion Stakes at Leopardstown but trainer Henry Cecil says: "He was never firing in that race for whatever reason but he's squealing and bouncing now and seems to be in great shape. I would like to think he's got a great chance of winning Saturday's big race again."

Then there is the super three-year-old filly Snow Fairy, who won both the English and Irish Oaks earlier in the year. Soft ground persuaded her trainer to bypass Arc weekend at Longchamp but trainer Ed Dunlop says: "Ryan Moore rode her in a gallop the other day and said she felt as good as ever but I won't overestimate her chance against the likes of Twice Over, Vision D'Etat and Gitano Hernando."

Indeed Dunlop may have forgotten another deadly serious rival to his filly as Godolphin have since declared that they are going to supplement Poet's Voice into Saturday's Newmarket spectacular.

This Dubawi colt kicked off the season with two dismal efforts in France, but has suddenly blossomed and added to a Group 2 Goodwood victory with a massive career best when Frankie Dettori drove him to victory over Rip Van Winkle in the Group 1 Queen Elizabeth II Stakes at Ascot in September.

Admittedly in his ten starts he has never raced beyond 1600m before but Godolphin manager Simon Crisford says: "We feel that 2000m could be the best trip for Poet's Voice now that he is settling so well in his races and we've decided to supplement him for Saturday's race instead of run him in the Breeders' Cup Mile at Churchill Downs."

Gitano Hernado trainer Botti insists his horse as good a chance as any in open Champion Stakes

Rising young trainer Marco Botti is convinced that Gitano Hernando has as good a chance of winning the Emirates Airline Champion Stakes as any of the horses more prominent in the betting for Saturday's Group 1 highlight at Newmarket.

Generally quoted at odds of 10-1, Gitano Hernando's trainer is delighted by the drying ground at Newmarket where his stables are also based. He said: "We have every chance. Just the same as the others I think."

The lightly-raced four-year-old is owned by Team Valor, an astute international racing operation. He had been absent due to a splint since a fine but unlucky effort in the Dubai World Cup but he made a smooth winning return in a Group 3 on the sand at Dundalk on 1 October, appearing to expend little energy. Jockey Kieren Fallon who has partnered Gitano Hernando to four of his six career wins rides him again and there is no mistaking the optimism of 33-year-old Botti who regards last year's winner Twice Over as his most serious opponent.

"Twice Over is probably the one to beat, but Vision D'Etat ran well recently and Await The Dawn looks progressive," is Botti's summary of his main opposition.

Currently Twice Over and Vision D'Etat, who have the highest international ratings in the field on 125 and 123 respectively, are competing for favouritism at 4-1 with Poet's Voice, Fuiss and Await the Dawn right behind them in the market.

Fuisse won Lonchamp's Gr 1 Prix du Moulin last month despite twice throwing his jockey before the start. He steps up to 2000m and trainer Criquette Head-Maarek sounds more hopeful than confident that the longer distance will suit: "I think he lost last year's French Derby (2100m) because of a lack of stamina but he's more than a year older now. It's a bit of an unknown really."

Another trainer who sounds cautious about chances on Saturday is Michael Bell, responsible for Wigmore Hall who has a highly consistent profile this season. However Bell says: "It's been quite a long hard year for him, so we're hoping it won't be a case of one start too many. This will also been the toughest race he has ever run in."

Ryan Moore will be on board Glass Harmonium who returns from an absence since a Group 1 attempt at Royal Ascot in June. Trainer Sir Michael Stoute said: "That was a rough race and he came back with a dirty wound, but he's been ready to run for a month now. The ground should be right – we just don't want it too fast."

In-form Dettori hoping to end his Champion Stakes hoodoo on Poet's Voice

Frankie Dettori is trying to end a long losing sequence in Saturday's Champion Stakes at Newmarket and the ever-popular 39-year-old rider is hoping that the supplemented Poet's Voice is the horse to do it for him in the eleven-runner field for what is the last major prize of the British season.

Dettori is riding at least as well as ever demonstrated by the fact that his winning strike-rate of 22 per cent in 2010 is well ahead of any other jockey in the UK. After having ridden his 112th winner of the domestic season at Nottingham racecourse on Thursday, he spoke about Poet's Voice chance in the Emirates Airlines-sponsored Group 1 race.

"Now he's got his head right, Poet's Voice is on an upward curve. He used to get too excited in his races, pulled like a train and never had anything left for the end. He's a different horse now as he's shown on his last two starts plus he's had an easy season and has got fresh legs," said the Italian-born jockey.

Those last two starts were stylish. First came an impressive winning romp in a Group 2 at Goodwood and then when swooping late to gain Group 1 glory in the Queen Elizabeth II Stakes at Ascot. However, it may worry some potential supporters of Poet's Voice that, when interviewed, Dettori refused to name Poet's Voice as one of his best chances of a victory on Newmarket's Saturday card.

He said: "They galloped strong fractions over 1600m at Ascot and he was still doing good work at the end. But, as everyone knows, he's never been this distance and that is our concern."

Like Dettori and Poet's Voice's trainer Saeed bin Suroor, Aidan O'Brien is another top European trainer who has failed dismally in this championship race in previous years. At least Await The Dawn has a different profile to stablemate Fame And Glory who disappointed badly having started hot favourite for this race last year after a long season and a tough race in the Arc a few weeks earlier. However, if Await The Dawn wins, he will need to upset historical trends showing that in the past 10 years every Champion Stakes winner had previously competed in a Group 1 race. That is something Await The Dawn has not yet done in four career starts though he did win a Group 3 at Leopardstown by a runaway nine lengths last time out.

O'Brien has broken just about every record in the book and won't be too worried by those negative statistics. The trainer rarely reveals much in interviews but does make these observations about his Champion Stakes contender: "Johnny (Murtagh) has always had a good opinion of this horse from the first day he sat on him. He's a good type of horse, an exciting type of horse, who travels well and I think he's got a lot of class."

French-trained raiders have a terrific record in the Champion Stakes, having won it nine times in the last 30 years, and, though Criquette Head-Maarek was sounding a bit worried about the 2000m distance for four-year-old Fuisse earlier in the week, the Chantilly-based trainer is sounding more positive closer to the big race: "The form of Fuisse's Group 1 victory at Longchamp last time is now looking strong with the horse we beat (Rio De La Plata) going to win a Group 1 in Italy. Also I think we can ignore Fuisse's behaviour before the start at Longchamp when throwing his jockey. He was just a bit fresh."

Meanwhile, it looks as though Vision D'Etat, the other French challenger, could start favourite on Saturday with the great majority of media tipsters from the UK preferring the 2009 Cathay Pacific Hong Kong Cup winner over last year's Champion Stakes winner Twice Over.

Track Analysis by Leung Ho Yin, Simon's Bio

Newmarket Racecourse – Track Analysis:

The Champion Stakes is run over the entire mile-and-a-quarter (2000m) straight of the Rowley section. Apart from its imposing width, the track is also undulating, with the turf starting to track uphill steadily from the half mile pole (800m), and the gradient getting ever steeper from about three-sixteenths (300m) from home, therefore requiring courage as well as stamina of the winner. With no trees or other indicators to act as landmarks, except for the famous Bushes just before runners enter "The Dip", and no bends for horses to get their "second winds", pacemakers and those making headway too early often find themselves toiling in the final stages.

As this race is contested over a classic distance on a straight course, with plenty of room for horses to maneuver and make their runs at virtually any time, stall assignments do not necessarily have much impact on winning chances. As a general rule, horses drawn low will start on the grandstand side – which is usually the side on which the field tends to group unless jockeys believe they have detected any bias caused by watering or rainfall – and most, but by no means all, winners tend to come from near or slightly off the pace.

Participating Trainers from Other Countries:

France C Head-Maarek As one of the leading female trainers in the world, she currently ranks 41st in the French trainers' standings, with 18 winners from 198 starters (9.1%) and over 1.5 million Euros in prize money. Most notable in winning the nearly improbable English / French 1000 Guineas double this season when Special Duty was promoted to win both classics after inquiry and protest. She will send out Fuisse, the top earner of the stable, in this year's running of the Champion Stakes.

France Eric Libaud Currently ranks 28th in the French trainers' standings, with 26 winners from 193 starters (13.4%) and over 850K Euros in prize money. He started his own training operation in 1992 after seven years as assistant to Alain de Royer-Dupre, and is quickly presented with international Group I winners like Ange Gabriel and Terre A Terre. His recent success is mainly focused upon stable star Vision D'Etat, which again will be his big hope at Newmarket this Saturday.
